POLISH SITUATION.

QUESTION OF ALLIED HELP.

WARSAW, August 5.

The Polish Government has requested the leaders of the Franco-British mission to return and explain to their respective governments the actual position of Poland and also advise their Governments regarding the assistance necessary.

MILITARY AID DOUBTFUL.

LONDON, August 5.

While it appears that the British note gives the Soviet to understand that the Allies will help Poland unless the Bolshevik invasion ceases, the form which British assistance will take is at present unknown.

According to the Matin, the Cabinet discussed the question of sending troops to Poland, but it is doubtful whether Britain will undertake to send military aid.

ABANDONED.

Paderewski declares that Poland has been abandoned by all except France. He says that Mr. Lloyd George at Spa gave the Poles written assurance that Britain would employ all her strength to safeguard the existence of Poland with the frontiers fixed. On the other hand the Petit Parisien declares that Britain completely dissipated all uncertainty and will not hesitate to consider any steps the situation demands.

GERMAN FRONTIER TO BE CLOSED.

BERLIN, August 5.

Fugitives from Warsaw are arriving in East Prussia. A semi-official communique is published simultaneously announcing the German intention to close the frontier, the reason given being the prevalence of dysentery amongst the refugees.

The Italian ambassador has requested the German Government to ensure the withdrawal of the Italian troops from the East Prussia plebiscite area by August 9.

FRENCH TROOPS ONLY AWAITING ORDERS.

PARIS, August 5.

It is believed that French troops actually in the neighbourhood of the theatre of operation in Poland are only awaiting the order to co-operate in the defence of the country. It is understood that in any case urgent steps are being taken to despatch war material and money to Poland.

WARSAW IN SERIOUS DANGER.

LONDON, August 4.

Warsaw appears to be in serious danger. To-day's Russian communique reports that Red troops in the direction of Siedlitz 50 miles east of Warsaw have debouched on a 66-mile front along the line of the River Bug, which is Warsaw's natural line of defence on the north and east. The communique adds that the river was crossed in several places after fierce fighting. Prisoners were taken. The seriousness of the situation may also be gauged by the fact that information has reached London that the French and British missions have evacuated Warsaw as well as Allied civilians.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

LONDON, August 4.

It is learnt authoritatively that the Havas report does not exactly represent the position regarding the abandonment of the London conference which is not definite but conditional upon the decision. The British wireless note points out that if Soviet claims to make peace with Poland direct one of the main reasons for the London conference is removed.

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN CRIMEA.

LONDON, August 5.

In the House of Commons, replying to Commr. Kenworthy as regards the reason for British warships in Crimean ports, Mr. Walter Long said that the allies assumed responsibility for the evacuation, care, and maintenance of a very large number of Russian refugees from the Black Sea provinces fleeing from the Bolsheviks. Thousands had been encamped in Cyprus, Lemnos, and Egypt.

PERMANENT ARMAMENTS COMMISSION.

POISON GAS CONSIDERED AS WEAPON OF WAR.

LONDON, August 5.

The first meeting of the Permanent Armaments Commission constituted by the Council of the League of Nations is sitting at San Sebastian. Eight nations are represented, including Britain by Admiral Sir Somerset Calthorpe and Commandant Groves, Japan by Generals Watanabe and Itami, and Captain Ozumi. The principal items for discussion are the question of employment of poison gas as a weapon of war and the question of the convention as regards the traffic in arms and munition.

MINISTER OF MINES.

LONDON, August 5.

In the House of Lords during the discussion on the Coal Mines Bill, an amendment was carried by 28 votes to 23 against the Government reducing the status of the proposed minister of mines to a Parliamentary secretaryship of the Board of Trade. Supporters of the amendment protested against the multiplication of new ministers.

MESOPOTAMIA.

THE CASUALTIES AT HILLA.

LONDON, August 5.

The War Office announces that British troops attacked by Arabs at Hilla belonged to the Second Manchester and the Field Artillery. The casualties were twelve British killed, 26 wounded, and 207 missing. The Indian troops lost eight killed, 34 wounded, and 84 missing.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

MEXICAN FERMONT.

New York, August 3rd.

A message from Mexcala, Lower California, states that General Flores, representing the Huasteca Government has conferred with Governor Casto in an effort to compose the differences which have resulted in the threat of occupation of Lower California.

General Flores is now proceeding to Los Angeles to telegraph a confidential report of the progress of the negotiations to the Mexican President.

THE LOCKLEAR TRAGEDY.

Los Angeles, August 3rd.

The details of the accident to the airman Locklear show that he was doing stunts at night amid the concentrated beams of searchlights. Locklear dropped a rocket which he followed with a nose-diver, so closely that the flaming projectile set fire to the aeroplane 300ft. from the ground.

"SUCH IS LIFE."

New York, August 4th.

Mrs. "Charlie" Chaplin, it is reported, has lodged a petition for divorce on the ground of cruelty. The lady, besieged by reporters, vomited the vague reply: "We are both temperamental."

Mr. "Charlie" Chaplin, interviewed, said: "Such is life in the Great West."

MR. JOHNSON'S CHARGE AGAINST JAPANESE IMMIGRANTS.

LONDON, August 4th.

The Daily Mail's New York correspondent states that the bitter interest in the Japanese question is renewed by the statements made by Mr. Albert Johnson, member for the State of Washington in the House of Representatives, and Chairman of the House Sub-Committee on Immigration and Naturalization.

Mr. Johnson, in a speech at Tacoma, Washington, spoke of "the Japanese underground system beginning from Yokohama and leading to Honolulu and extending to Guaymas and Mexico, whereby Japanese were brought surreptitiously to the United States."

Mr. Johnson alleged that Japanese were smuggled from Guaymas into California, the Mexican Frontier Guards being given a bribe of $2 per head, and were then taken by compatriots to the country districts where they were hidden for five years, after which period they would emerge into the open with residential qualifications established.

FAR EASTERN CABLE NEWS.

[BY COURTESY "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."] THE PEKING CRISIS.

A REGAL RECEPTION FOR THE VICTORIOUS TUCHUNS.

PEKING, July 5.

The city gates are half opened, indicating the easing of the political situation.

Generals Chang Tso-hsin and Tsao Kun were accorded a regal reception on their entry into Peking last evening.

NEW RAILWAY FUEL.

SUCCESSFUL FRENCH EXPERIMENT.

For the first time a French railway passenger train has been drawn by an engine heated by mazout—crude petroleum residue. This happened on the Orleans line between Paris and Tours recently.

M. Le Troquer, Minister of Public Works, attended the test. The engine used was an American Pacific type, which was driven by an American engineer and a French expert. From Etampes onward M. Le Troquer travelled in the cabin to watch the perfect ease with which the engine was controlled and the remarkable way in which the steam pressure could be altered at will in so short a time. The good speed and pulling power were demonstrated, 95 kilometres per hour (59 miles) being attained at certain points, and an incline of 8 per cent just after the station at Etampes being mounted without the slightest effort. The advantages of such fuel are much appreciated by the railway company—the great economy in labour afforded to the driver on the journey and to the workmen in the cleaning yard, and at the same time the economy in consumption, waste matter being 30 per cent. less than in the case of coal. Only 40 minutes were necessary to get up steam. The new practically smokeless-fuel will, when universally adopted, shorten the times of journeys owing to the absence of the necessity for halting en route for refuelling purposes.

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE"

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, AUGUST 7, 1920.

ZENITH AND NADIR.

When not employed poetically or figuratively, these terms, zenith and nadir, do not seem to offer much scope for argument. The zenith is the point immediately overhead, the top of any line extended upwards along any plumb line, and the nadir is its opposite, practically the point we call the centre of gravity. Yet there is a man in Hongkong worrying about it. In one of those delightfully impractical and non-utilitarian talks which educated men enjoy so much, he "proved" by mathematics and by geometrical diagrams that these opposites are not always opposite. The argument was roughly this, that as the globe on which we stand is not a true sphere but an oblate spheroid, a plumb line hanging near the edge of the flattening would if prolonged point upwards to the zenith but not downwards to the centre of gravity which is usually assumed to be the centre of the earth. It was so plausible that it puzzled the most acute thinker present for a while. There was much argument about it and about another definition of zenith had to be recalled, that one which puts the position more clearly by describing the zenith as the pole of an imaginary hollow sphere whose periphery is the horizon. It then began to dawn on us that the plumb has no relation whatever to the surface over which it hangs; but that its true plane is that from horizon to horizon, disregarding the belly of the earth projected within that horizon. No matter where the plumb hangs, its line is polar and the horizon must be one of its true planes, that is, at right angles to it. The horizon, in effect, is a line of latitude drawn on the periphery of a true sphere, the centre of which, the nadir, is faithfully indicated by any downward prolongation of the plumb line. It is as easy to prolong the peripheral line (true sphere curve) over the flattened pole as it is to prolong the plumb. It is quite true, and obvious, that over the edge of the flattening the plumb line need not be at right angles with the surface. There is no necessity. But it would be at a right angle to the plane of the horizon, and its prolongations would lead faithfully to nadir and to zenith. In short, the illusion of the paradox-discovery was that the surface over which he hung his plumb must coincide and be parallel with the plane of the horizon. The horizon is the edge of the plane that is left when the segment is cut off, and as it is cut off by the human eye, its area is limited, and certainly much smaller than the semi-plane left by the flattening of the poles. This flattening cannot be taken into account, any more than can the steep slope of a hill over which the zenith-nadir plumb may be hung. Our earth may be a spheroid only, but so far as zenith and horizon are concerned, it rests within a hollow sphere that is true at all points. It is admitted that a straight line run through the centre of the earth must touch the zenith (two zeniths, as a matter of strict accuracy). It is equally true that any plumb line suspended from either zenith must, when prolonged, touch the centre. It seems clear also that the surface distance between two plumb lines suspended over the flattened or polar faces of our spheroid must be shorter than between two plumb lines hung over an equatorial face, though the geometrical distances between the zeniths be equal. That only means that a straight line between two fixed points must be shorter than a curved line. Flat charts mapping a curved surface (called after Mercator but due to Edward Wright of Cairns) must increase their distances between points of latitude in the same proportion as the secants of the arc between those points and the equator. Wright very neatly explains it by swelling all the latitudes inside a cylinder which has the diameter of the equator, and showing that the inner surface of the cylinder, when unrolled, is a parallelogram.

PASSPORTS AGAIN.

The passport is a war time expedient. If those who defend its retention in peace time reply that the conditions at present are as difficult as they were while war was on, we point out this fact. They have been waived in the case of travellers to Macao and Canton, because traffic to these places is so large that the things became a manifest nuisance. Very well. What is to hinder a man, of the kind, passports are supposed to check, from going to Canton, and thence overland to places he otherwise could not reach without a passport? Nothing. In peace time (before the war) most countries could be entered without passports. It is true that the Foreign Office used to recommend us to have them, "as affording a ready means of identification in case of need," and perhaps with an eye to the fees charged for them. But even these were for use in foreign countries. One of our present troubles is that, in peace time, we of the British Empire cannot move from place to place within our own empire without passports and all the trouble and inconvenience and expense they involve.

How about a petition to Parliament from all British residents here, asking for the passport nonsense to be stopped? Do you care enough?

DEVILS.

Conan Doyle is having a copy of China's Millions sent to him. We are seeing to that. It should interest him. It is the official organ of the China Inland Mission, and gives chatty letters from the labourers in the vineyard, people who know what they are talking about, people who cannot tell a lie. The China Mail has repeatedly chaffed Conan Doyle about his belief in mediums, his belief in their messages from dead friends; but our methods are less likely to suppress such mischievous superstition than is the plain testimony of Miss A. Harrison of Sisiang in Shensi. She found in papers received from Home "quite serious articles" about the possibility of communicating with the dead. She writes: "I wish I could send a note of warning to the foolish people who are tempted to dabble in such matters. In China some of us have learned a great deal about this sort of thing, and we know for fact that it is not their dead loved ones they get into communication with, but demons who personate them."

She then relates actual experiences, proving that the devils can be forced to own up, by throwing texts at them. "It is, of course, very easy for demons to personate the dead, or to tell facts about them, for have they not watched them in their lifetime, and do they not know even their secrets?" They do. They do. There is a demon who knows all ours. His name—but that's for by and by. At present it is Miss Harrison's turn.

She tells of a demon that troubled a young woman. "We thought at first it was only one in possession, but when it began speaking through her, attempting to deceive us into thinking it was the young woman herself speaking, we demanded of it an answer to the question, 'Who are you?' It tried evasion, but held to it, replied 'I am—I am—' several times, and then changed it to 'We are—we are—' and finally, 'We are demons.'"

Asked 'How many?' evasion was again tried, but the Lord has given to His servants authority over these imps of wickedness, so they have to obey, and we got the answer 'Five.'

The woman is now better. Every repetition of a text acts like a sword thrust. Picture this intrepid lady, compelling devils to obey her. If she had only thought of ordering them all to leave China for 999 years, what a useful work. However, these things get overlooked sometimes. One cannot think of everything. So far as her story is concerned, we can confirm it from our own experience.

On reading her letter in China's Millions, it occurred to us that Conan Doyle may be right after all, and that she (Miss Harrison) might have a devil. It might not be Miss Harrison speaking at all, but a demon, thus trying to discourage or prevent innocent communion with friends who have passed over. This seemed a devilish suspicion, and so thinking, the truth flashed on us in a flash. We had a devil.

Now we happen to be more familiar with the efficacious book than most missionaries we have met, so we lost no time in trying a sword thrust or two. Going into an empty room, we said:

"And thou shalt make his pangs to receive his ashes, and his shovels, and his basons, and his fleshhooks and his firepans."

Immediately we felt a kind of fluttering near the diaphragm, and knew that we had got one good one home. We continued:

"And the Avims which dwell in Hazerim, even unto Azzah, the Caphtorims, which came forth out of Caphtor, destroyed them."

The demon thereupon pleaded guilty. We sternly demanded his name. He tried evasion. (They always do that, it seems.) We insisted, and he confessed that his name was Gnoses. His game was up.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

To-day's roundup of notifiable disease records one case of emeric fever and one case of paratyphoid fever, Indian and French respectively.

Kongmoon was badly flooded as a result of the recent rains. Many houses collapsed and several persons are stated to have been killed. Considerable damage was also done to property in the villages of the Shampo district.

The American steamer "West Heart" ran ashore on July 23 at 5.30 a.m. ten miles from Hikoohima, outside Moji. The salvage-boat "Oura Maru" was sent to render assistance. The Moji Water Police also despatched launches. The place where the steamer stranded is a very dangerous spot, several ships having been wrecked.

As time goes on the absence of a police patrol becomes more and more apparent in Kobe, complains the Japan Chronicle. Baseball is played in the Settlement streets absolutely without let or hindrance; the brick footpaths are regarded by cyclists and rich men as made for their delight, and they ring for the pedestrian to get off. When the pedestrian makes them get off they look grieved or become abusive according to temperament. The Settlement roads in these days are an object-lesson in anarchy, and the sword and hat emblematical of law and order are never seen.

The Pacific Mail-liner "Columbia," almost left for San Francisco on July 23 afternoon with only one wireless operator. Rex Sinnock, one of the operators, came to Tokyo that morning to see some friends. Having overstayed his time a little bit without having seen his friends, he hired a motor car to hurry him back to the port. His car blew a tyre midway between Tokyo and Yokohama and Mr. Sinnock reached the pier after the ship was well out in the bay. To add to his misery, it was raining. The only way out of a bad situation was to charter a launch, which he was able to do in time to overtake the liner.

EUROPEAN CHARGED.

ALLEGED DISORDERLY BEHAVIOUR.

A European resident was arrested last night on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly in Wyndham Street.

He was allowed bail in the sum of $10 but failed to answer his name at Court this morning. His bail was estreated.

VAGRANT CONVICTED.

Before Magistrate Hutchison this morning, Inspector Willis, of West Point charged a Chinese who was found by a district watchman loitering outside a tea shop at 3 a.m. with being a rogue and a vagabond.

The defendant said that he was waiting for the tea shop to open to go inside and take his breakfast.

The Inspector said that the tea shop did not open until 4 a.m.

A previous conviction having been proved, sentence of three weeks' hard labour was passed.

UNLICENSED HAWKER FINED.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST POLICE.

MAGISTRATE ORDERS INQUIRY.

A Chinese girl was this morning charged before Magistrate Hutchison by the Wanchai Police with hawking without a licence.

She admitted the offence and said that she was arrested because she would not give the constable tea money.

The Magistrate, which constable? All the constables collect tea money from hawkers. I have given them altogether 30 cents.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $2 or three days' hard labour. He instructed the police to make enquiries as to the allegations made by the girl. He thought the matter should be investigated.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Messrs. W. Hall and J. S. Moraes are added to the list of authorized architects.

K90 is the Observatory telephone number. Shipmasters are requested not to be shy about ringing up.

The Colonial Secretary wants tenders for making 1,600 serge suits for police winter wear. Material supplied.

Tuberculosis sufferers are on the increase in Japan, the latest returns indicating the total number at above 1,000,000.

Mr. A. W. Curtis, proprietor of the Kobe Herald who has been seriously ill for some time, is now fully recovered.

July banknotes in circulation were C. B. $9,845,665; H. S. B. $2,192,645; and M. B. $1,051,309. Reserves as usual.

A marriage has been arranged between Mr. G. A. Bena, President of the Shanghai Italian Chamber of Commerce, and Gervé Baronti, who has been staying in Shanghai for some time.

The funeral took place at Bubbling Well Cemetery of Robert Samuel Pakenham Hughes, able bodied seaman on H.M.S. "Cricket." The deceased, who was 34 years old, died very suddenly at Shanghai.

A Persian official, says the Chinese press, arrived in Shanghai several days ago for the supposed purpose of opening commercial intercourse between China and Persia. Several more of his compatriots are expected to arrive shortly.

The fantasy gambling monopoly for Canton and Honan is stated to have been let for $1,300,000 a year. The number of gambling houses will be limited to 100, "in order to reduce expenses, and to make the gambling dens look prosperous."

It is reported that salvage operations may be commenced shortly by a Shanghai firm to salvage the dredger "Shanghai" which was wrecked on the shores of Taichow Bay during the recent typhoon when the tug "Friesland" was nearly lost. A surveying party will shortly leave Shanghai to investigate the possibilities of salvage.

A heavy downpour of rain has caused inundations in various parts of Formosa. All rivers overflowed their banks and over 400 houses have been flooded. A large tract of sugar plantation and farms has been devastated by the floods. Extensive damage was done to sugar cane and other land.

What the Japanese papers describe as "a pleasing scene" was witnessed in the lower House recently, when a Bill for increasing allowances to members of the Diet was passed without a dissenting voice. Even the Opposition parties, we are told, did not raise any objection to the new measure, which was put into effect at once.

The recent civil war has been productive of some amusing happenings. For instance, one correspondent in Peking informed his paper that the capital was without ice or vegetables on the night of July 18. Personally we have not been without either since the war started and we have neither iceplant or vegetable garden, remarks, the N. C. Standard.

Mr. Alexander Frost, one of the oldest foreign residents of Kobe—the arrived in 1871—died on July 21. Mr. Frost was well-known amongst the shipping fraternity, as he was for many years connected with Messrs. Nickel and Co., the well-known firm of stevedores, etc., and had been a pensioner of the firm for some time past. He came out to Shanghai in a sailing vessel and obtained his discharge there.

According to the "Kuling Bulletin" on Tuesday afternoon of last week a Chinese woman weighing 450 pounds was carried up the mountain by 16 coolies. In addition to her own avoirdupois she carried with her some $30,000 worth of gold bars; two suit cases full of dollar notes and jewellery. She is the mother of one of the leading Hankow compradors and was transporting herself and her valuables to a place of safety. 450 lb! Someone has been overdoing things, comments the N. C. Daily News.

The two Dutch seamen who were thought to have been drowned in the dredger "Shanghai" are now in the Shanghai General Hospital recovering from nervous shock owing to their harrowing experiences. The two Chinese who formed the crew of the tug "Jan," which was sunk in the typhoon of July 15 in Taichow Bay, were also saved. When the "Jan" was sinking they jumped overboard and, after being six hours in the water, managed to reach shore safely. Go that no lives were there fore lost in this typhoon among the men who sailed in the "Friesland" and in the two vessels she was towing to Java.

HIS FIRST "FOUL."

FILIPINO'S THEFT.

PREFERS LASE, TO JAIL.

A Filipino named Andres, a passenger from Manila by the s.s. "Tenyo Maru," was this morning charged before Magistrate Hutchison with the theft of $45 and 100 yen, the property of another Filipino passenger.

When asked to plead, the defendant said: "I admit I took the money from my friend. I do not know why I did it."

The Magistrate: You plead guilty?—Yes, I will tell you the truth.

The defendant then plunged into a story of how he went to say farewell to a lady friend at Manila before sailing. She happened to be in financial difficulties, so he gave her all his money.

The Magistrate: Where are you bound to?—I took ship to Hongkong to join my cousin Andres Balera. He promised to find me work here.

Asked for the facts of the case, the police told the Magistrate that the defendant felt sea sick yesterday and remained in the cabin. His two cabin mates went on deck, thinking their luggage safe with the defendant in the cabin. When the ship arrived in port and they went to the cabin to take their luggage, the complainant found that one of his boxes had been broken open and the money extracted. He informed the police. When the defendant was searched, the money was found stuck in his boots.

Asked if he had anything more to say, the defendant said: "I hope you will forgive me this 'foul' sir. I have tasted prison life last night, and I don't want to go back to jail. I want to die. Even if you give me 100 lashes it is better than sending me to prison."

The Magistrate passed sentence of six weeks' hard labour. The defendant left the dock in tears. He embraced a couple of friends and wished them a pathetic farewell and then accompanied the police into the jail.

MORPHIA.

CAUGHT RED HANDED.

CHINESE FINED $500.

A Chinese was this morning charged before Magistrate Hutchison with the unlawful possession of five official doses of morphia and two syringes.

The defendant pleaded not guilty. He said that the things were deposited with him for safe keeping by a friend.

Sergeant A. Clarke said that at 5 p.m., yesterday, he went to the second floor of No. 8, Pokfulam Road, armed with a search warrant. In a small cubicle he found the defendant sitting on a bed actually injecting the drug into the arm of a richa coolie. There were several other coolies in the room waiting their turn. He arrested the defendant.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $500 or three months' hard labour.

MANCHESTER WEEKLY MARKET REPORT.

Messrs. James F. Hutton and Co., Ltd., Manchester, report on Wednesday, June 30:

The feature of to-day's markets is to be found in the raw material rather than in yarn or cloth. New crop and weather news from the cotton belt continue to be of a very favourable nature and the monthly estimate of the National Ginners' Association proved to be of a distinctly optimistic character. The present condition is estimated at 72 and the crop at 11,440,000 Bales which is an improvement of 8 per cent on last month when the condition was given at 64 and the crop at 10,200,000 Bales. Private reports confirm the present figures and the acreage is approximated to be 1 per cent. increase on last year. Despite these bearish factors and continued unfavourable trade however, American cotton prices show appreciable advances on those of a week ago, owing to a very extensive covering movement which has set in. Egyptian futures have also been firmer. In the yarn and cloth sections there has again been a fair enquiry and although no improvement has taken place in the amount of the business done, the outlook is still regarded as hopeful by all concerned. In yarn prices an easier tendency is now noticeable all round and cloth quotations remain irregular, varying according to manufacturers' engagement. It is however impossible to give any estimate of the fall in values as owing to the entire absence of offers there has been no opportunity of ascertaining the extent of concessions that producers are willing to make. Where looms have already stopped for want of orders or are about to stop, very appreciable reduced quotations are given, but this is to be found in only a few instances in the plainer cloths and there is no doubt that but a small amount of buying at this juncture would immediately fill these up and harden prices all round. When this happens however and the tendency of prices moves against buyers, it is only too probable that many outlets who are at present holding off because of the uncertainty which always prevails when values are falling, will then immediately come in as buyers. This is certainly to be expected, for there are still so many demands unsatisfied, and the result would naturally be to advance rates quickly. It would appear therefore that buyers who get in just before such a happening will be able to make very favourable purchases.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

WOMAN JUMPS INTO HARBOUR.

A Chinese woman yesterday attempted to commit suicide in West Point by jumping into the harbour. She was rescued by the police and sent to the hospital.

When her case was called before Magistrate Hutchison this morning, Inspector Willis said that according to the doctor the woman would not be able to leave the hospital for a week. The case was remanded until next Saturday.

OPIUM.

CHINESE FINED $100.

Charged before Magistrate Hutchison with the unlawful possession of two tael of prepared non-Government opium, a Chinese said that the drug was given to him by a friend to take on board a ship. He was promised a few ten-cent pieces for his trouble.

Inspector Blackman said that the defendant was searched in Aberdeen Street, and the drug was found concealed on his person.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $100 or one month's hard labour. The drug was confiscated.

PLOTS TO KILL EX-KAISER.

A special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune (Paris edition) has been making enquiries at Doorn regarding alleged attempts to assassinate the ex-Kaiser. He telegraphs that he learns from a schoolmaster at Amerongen that a German crossed the frontier without papers, climbed the wall round the ex-Kaiser's house, and fired several shots. The man was arrested and sent back to Germany. Another very detailed story states that the ex-Kaiser was attacked by an assailant disguised as a Belgian labourer, who secured entrance to his residence on the pretext that he had come to repair the waterpipes. He concealed himself in the corridor, waited for the ex-Kaiser and struck at him with a blunt instrument. The ex-Kaiser, warned off the attack, grappled with his assailant, and held him until the guards came on the scene.

The Victoria Recreation Club bath will be open to the ladies of the Colony on Mondays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., also on Wednesdays from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m., and again from 2 to 4 p.m., without fee.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

THE SURPRISE!

GRAND COMPETITION.

My dear Children,
 All of you I know love bathing and I expect quite a lot of you can swim and float and now there are lots of jolly bathing-parties.
 Well, I want you to write a short letter about one of the bathing-parties to which you have been and send it before next Wednesday to "Peter Pan," c/o The Editor, The China Mail Office, and this week there will be two prizes, a prize each of a nice book for the boy and girl who write the best letters. By "best" I mean not only the most interesting, but the richest and best-written letter too.
 Don't think if you are little that you have not as much chance as the bigger ones because you have and when I am reading the letters I shall say to myself "John's letter is very good and he is ten years old but Mary is only seven and when you think how much smaller she is her letter is better still"—and all things like that.
 So I do hope that all of you who have discovered that every Saturday there is now a Children's Corner in the China Mail will write to me, even if it is only the tiniest letter.
 Don't forget to put your address at the top and your full name at the end of it and your age and then write underneath it "I have written this all by myself." Then if your letter wins a prize you will see it in next week's Children's Corner.
 And now I must not write any more or we shall have no room for any stories!

Your loving

DICKY'S TEA-PARTY.

One day when it was hot and sunny Dicky's mother asked two little friends to come and play with him in the garden.
 Their names were Lucy and Lionel and they were all just about six years old. Lucy's birthday was in May and Lionel and Dicky's both in July.
 They came about four o'clock and Lucy brought a box of Dicky's to play with and Lionel brought a green wooden house with a red roof.
 Dicky's mother took them all upstairs to her bathroom where they had great fun.
 First of all they turned on the taps and when there was enough water they put the wooden house in the bath with a big wet sponge on the top of it to keep it down and pretended that the house was full of fairies.
 Then they started the boat off at one end of the bath and when there was a collision and the house floated to the top of the water they were very excited because all the fairies were swimming away and had to be caught and put back again as quickly as possible.
 After that Dicky's mother made three paper boats which she put at one end of the bath and Lucy and Lionel and Dicky blew them along. The boats went very fast fortunately, as it was hot work, and Lucy's and Lionel's reached the end together whilst Dicky's was just a little behind.
 By that time tea was ready in the garden so they all went out.
 Dicky had a piece of garden for himself where he used to dig and when they had finished tea Dicky fetched his two spades and gave them to Lucy and Lionel and he had a piece of wood and they made a big castle and put a border of stones round it and stuck some bright red flowers on the top for an imaginary flag.
 Then they made a tent on the lawn with a rug and a mackintosh thrown over some chairs and a pole in the middle to keep it up and for some time they were very busy fetching wood to make a fire and matches

TEETHING CHILDREN.

TEETHING children have more or less of diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Even the most severe and dangerous cases are quickly cured by it. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

FUNERAL.

MRS. ELIZABETH WALKER.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, wife of Captain E. Walker of the s.s. "Haiyang," who died at the French Hospital, Causeway Bay, took place at the Protestant Cemetery, Happy Valley, last evening. Kowloon residents were present in large numbers, expressive of the esteem in which the deceased lady was held on the mainland.
 Mrs. Walker's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ellis Walker, and Mrs. Harman were chief mourners. Lieut. Higby, Messrs. G. Stark, D. C. Wilson, C. J. Higginbotham, W. Jackson, and S. H. Spalding were the pall bearers, and Rev. G. R. Lindsay, of St. Andrew's, Kowloon, read the burial service of the Church of England. For the bereaved husband the greatest sympathy is felt. His ship, the "Haiyang," is running to Java for the J.C.I.L. and Capt. Walker will not be here before Monday. Mrs. Walker was 31 years of age, a native of Manchester. She had been seven years in Hongkong.
 Many beautiful wreaths covered the coffin, including those from Captain Walker, "Dorothy, Clara and Dick," "Ellis and Babs," "Beny Jean," "Rosie," "Connie and Frances," the Captain, Officers and Engineers, s.s. "Haiching," "Little Barbara," Mrs. J. H. M. Mead, Madame Flint, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cooper and family, Mrs. F. J. Gelion and Miss Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McLeod, Mr. D. Neilson, Mr. A. J. M. Gomes, V. Ward, Mrs. F. Endell Rosser and Miss Rosser, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Frost, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Elson, Mr. and Mrs. Purves, Mrs. W. J. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. W. Higby, Chan Fui-yu, Mrs. D. Wadling, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hammes, Mr. D. Wilson, Mrs. A. B. Bryson, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ramsay, Miss Annie Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Duxon, Miss L. Stephens, Mr. C. J. Higginbotham, Mrs. W. J. Edwards and Miss Edwards, Mr. C. R. Crispin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Chruch, Mr. J. Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. Pope, Mr. J. Rodger, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Logan, Mr. J. D. F. Mulder, Mr. W. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stewart, Capt. and Mrs. Passmore, K. W. McBurney, Nellie A. Brewster and M. Edna Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Crawford, Mr. G. Harper, Mr. A. Jenkins, Captain Wetherell, Mr. A. M. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Underwood, Mr. J. E. Gomes, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wicheff, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mutton, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Southerton and others.
 (which were bits of stick really) and meat and fish to cook and some milk in a hat and all the thousand and one things that are wanted when one is camping out.
 Just after they had pretended to start the fire and were about to cook the fish Dicky's mother called out that the tent was burning and they ran as fast as they could to the pump, which was the post of the tennis net, and Lucy turned the handle whilst the others filled their hats with water. They soon put out the fire but decided that the ground all round the tent was too hot to touch for some time.
 So they played Fox and Goose and Puss in the Corner and all sorts of games until it was time for Lucy and Lionel to go home again and for Dicky to go to bed.

MY SECRET BOX.

Inside my head I have a box,
 'Tis shut up tight with two big locks
 And no one looks inside.
 But sometimes, when I'm safe in bed
 I open this box in my head
 And this is what I find.
 Some strange ideas of grown-up folks
 And lots and lots of funny jokes
 I shouldn't like to tell.
 Because grown-ups might say "How queer!"
 And "Isn't this boy rude, my dear?"
 And lots of things like that.

THE RIDDLE.

Why are authors the strangest animals?
 Because their tales (tales) come out of their heads.

GERMAN NAVAL SECRETS.

OFFICIAL WAR HISTORY.

WHY OUR TRANSPORTS WERE NOT ATTACKED.

The first volume of the official German history of the war at sea is of great political and military importance.
 It covers the preparations for war made by the German Admiralty and the operations in the North Sea during the first month of the war, and it includes many documents and 35 maps and charts, for the most part printed in colours. The author, Commander O. Groos, of the German Navy, makes a commendable effort to show impartiality.
 The earlier pages deal with the plans of the German Admiralty Staff and the political views of the German Government.
 On July 20 the High Sea Fleet was ordered to remain concentrated, as the order for its return from Norway might come quickly.
 On July 22 the Staff warned the German Government of the possibility that Britain might immediately declare war and attack the German Fleet, and urged that this fleet should be recalled at least six days before such a declaration of war became possible. On July 25 the Kaiser showed great uneasiness and verbally gave the order for the fleet to return. It was to go to the Baltic, according to Admiral von Ingenohl (who was then in command).
 On the 28th came news that British naval movements were no longer being published. But the message concluded:
 "Britain, according to an intimation which the King has given to Prince Henry of Prussia, is to remain neutral in the event of a European war. As this is in accordance with her geographical and political situation we may reckon on British neutrality for the time being. In the further course of events, and above all, if German arms are victorious on land, we must reckon with a British entry into the war."
 The German Admiralty therefore determined to settle with Russia at sea, and to avoid anything that might antagonise Britain or lead her to range herself against Germany.
 On July 31 the German Admiralty issued orders to hasten to the utmost the concentration of all fighting vessels in the North Sea against England.
CRUISERS KEPT BACK.
 Surprise was felt at the time that the German Admiralty did not carry out its plans for a great attack on British commerce by German auxiliary cruisers. The explanation is given by Commander Groos. These cruisers were not sent to sea because the German Government feared that their despatch would lead to immediate war with Britain.
 The German scouting work was bad; of aircraft, there were only six aeroplanes at Heligoland and 1 Zeppelin, the L3, which at the outset proved of little value. The first British loss in the war was the merchantman San Wilfrido, sunk by the German mines off Cuxhaven on August 3 24 hours before war began.
 German strategy was fixed by an order issued by the Kaiser which ran as follows:
 "1. The aim of the operations is to weaken the British Fleet by attacks on the vessels watching or blockading the Bight of Heligoland and by a ruthless mine and, where possible, submarine offensive, pushed to the British coast.
 "2. After forces have been equalised by this strategy and all our ships have concentrated and are ready for action, our Fleet is to seek to bring on a battle in favourable conditions. Should a favourable opportunity to strike occur earlier it must be seized.
 "3. War against commerce is to be conducted in accordance with the rules for capture. The Chief of the High Sea Fleet will decide to what extent it is to be carried on in home waters. The vessels intended for attack in foreign waters are to be sent out as soon as possible."

TRANSPORTS PUZZLE.

The extraordinary inactivity of the German Navy in the first weeks of the war, when it attempted no operations against the transports which were carrying the British Expeditionary Force to France, has always been a puzzle. We are told that shortly before the war the Staff decided that this movement of transports could best be hampered:
 "By U-boat operations and by laying mines in the sea routes and entrances to the ports of embarkation and disembarkation. In the most favourable conditions the employment of our main force only promises the delay of the transports."
 On August 7, information was received from Holland that the transport of the Expeditionary Force had begun; and on the 8th the Kaiser sent these orders:
 "The transport of the English Expeditionary Force is in progress—probably to Zebrugge, Ostend, Dunkirk, Calais.
 "His Majesty orders attack by torpedo-boats and mines, and especially by submarines. The conduct of attacks must have regard to the prospect of success and weather and other special conditions."
MOLTKE AND THE B.E.F.
 This was a half-hearted order, and it did not contemplate the employment of the main German forces. But a most remarkable explanation of it is given:
 "The military command made no demands of this kind on the Navy. It appeared, if the truth were told, not to rate very high the importance of the efficient but numerically weak Expeditionary Force. In any case, the Chief of the General Staff (Moltke) in his own person at the beginning of the war told the Chief of the Operations Section of the Admiralty Staff, Commander Heydel, who asked him whether the Army regarded the destruction of the transport as of great importance, that the Navy need not disturb its operations for such a matter. The Army in the West would be only too pleased to settle accounts with the 150,000 British, a point of view which was shared by many as the result of the favourable course which the offensive had at first taken in the West."
 Submarine operations against the transport were considered to be difficult because of the want of sea-marks, the number of shoals, and the strong currents of the Channel. A feeble effort was, however, made by four U-boats which left Heligoland on August 8 to attack the transports, but the weather was bad and various troubles occurred.
 They did ascertain that there was no strong British covering force east of the Channel entrance, and concluded that either the Expeditionary Force was not really being landed or else that the covering force was much farther west than had been supposed. This latter conclusion was correct.

OBITUARY.

MR. HENRI VAN MEINES.

The many local friends of Mr. Henri van Meines, jr., late Superintendent of the Asiatic Petroleum Company (South China), will regret to learn that the news has been received of his death at Rotterdam on June 9. Mr. van Meines lived a number of years in Hongkong, and his genial disposition won him the esteem of all who came in contact with him either socially or in business.
 It is not so long since Mr. van Meines left for home in the best of health and spirits, and the news of his death, which took place at his home in Rotterdam, comes as a great shock to his countrymen in the Colony, to his colleagues in the A. P. office and to the engineering fraternity generally. Mr. van Meines was a capable superintendent and also very popular socially. It is understood that he went home on retirement. His death has followed very soon that of his close friend, Mr. John Fasse, superintendent of the Java-China Japan Lijn, who also left here on retirement and died suddenly in Rotterdam, a few months ago.
 Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. van Meines's bereaved family.

PRINCESS DIES OF GRIEF.

SEQUEL TO LOVER'S SUICIDE.

A tragic and romantic story of Paris society appears to link the sudden death at Paris-Plage, a seaside resort near Boulogne, of the beautiful Italian Princess Francesca Rospiigliosi, aged 17, with the suicide in Paris, of Signor Alfredo Alegritti, a rich young Italian, who served as an airman on the Italian front during the war.
 The mother of the dead girl, Princess Marie Rospiigliosi, is American by birth, a daughter of Senator Reid, of Maryland. Her husband died in 1913, and since then his widow—a noted beauty—has lived in Paris with her two children—Francesca, and her son of 12, Gerumino.
 This spring Signor Alegritti arrived in Paris, accompanied by his guardian, an old friend of the Princess Marie Rospiigliosi, and no sooner had the handsome airman of 22 set eyes upon Princess Francesca than he fell desperately in love with her, and proposed marriage to her within a week. The mother, Princess Marie, opposed the idea, and on May 30 Signor Alegritti shot himself with his army revolver in the Hotel du Rhin, where he was staying. He left a note addressed to his mother in Rome, which revealed why he took his life.
 Princess Francesca became very much depressed, and her mother sent both children to the seaside. It was not until late at night that Princess Marie, who had remained in Paris, received news by telephone from Paris-Plage that her daughter was seriously ill. Princess Marie left at once for Paris-Plage by motor-car, travelling throughout the night, and taking with her Dr. Edmond L. Gros, the American physician.

MOTHER TOO LATE.

They arrived at Princess Francesca's bedside to find her unconscious and sinking fast. The doctors concluded that it was Princess Francesca's grief at the suicide of her lover that had predisposed her to the illness which took her life. The grief-stricken mother has spoken to her friends of a wish to leave Paris and live in a convalescent home.

"The military command made no demands of this kind on the Navy. It appeared, if the truth were told, not to rate very high the importance of the efficient but numerically weak Expeditionary Force. In any case, the Chief of the General Staff (Moltke) in his own person at the beginning of the war told the Chief of the Operations Section of the Admiralty Staff, Commander Heydel, who asked him whether the Army regarded the destruction of the transport as of great importance, that the Navy need not disturb its operations for such a matter. The Army in the West would be only too pleased to settle accounts with the 150,000 British, a point of view which was shared by many as the result of the favourable course which the offensive had at first taken in the West."
 Submarine operations against the transport were considered to be difficult because of the want of sea-marks, the number of shoals, and the strong currents of the Channel. A feeble effort was, however, made by four U-boats which left Heligoland on August 8 to attack the transports, but the weather was bad and various troubles occurred.
 They did ascertain that there was no strong British covering force east of the Channel entrance, and concluded that either the Expeditionary Force was not really being landed or else that the covering force was much farther west than had been supposed. This latter conclusion was correct.

IMPORTS—PRICES CURRENT.

The following figures are published as supplied by Importers to the Chamber of Commerce.
 Cotton piece goods and fancy cotton goods:
 The rise in exchange has roused piece goods dealers to the extent of looking for something cheap, but apparently dealers in Fancies have not heard of the present dollar rate! In short the market remains lifeless. A few sales of piece goods have been recorded.
 The Manchester market is quiet. Quotations like our own rates must be fictitious in such a stagnant market.
 Cotton Yarn. The substantial appreciation in exchange kept off buyers and rendered values decidedly easier. Business was restricted to a few qualities to meet early requirements.
 Quotations are—No. 10s. $195/240. No. 12s. $210/243. No. 16s. $245/285. No. 20s. $270/320. Arrivals 5,500 bales. Sales 7,000 bales. Shipments nil.
 Unsold Stock 6,000 bales. Bargains 16,000 bales.
 Woolens. Small sale reported of Camlets. No business in other lines.
 Raw Cottons. Values are nominally unaltered. Indian grades are quoted at $37/41, while Chinese descriptions are $41/47 per picul.
 Metals. Market remains very dull, dealers show no interest in new business. Any offers for spot goods or parcels for near arrival, are much below replacing costs.
FLOUR MARKET REPORT.
 Stock—
 Quotations:—American Patent $4.80 per sack, American Cut off $3.65 per sack, American Straight $3.65 per sack. Shanghai Flour 2nd $3.15 per sack. Australian No. 1 $4.25 per sack, Australian No. 2 $3.70.

YOUR BLOOD WANTS PURIFYING.

IF YOU are troubled with Eczema, Blisters, Spots, Pimples, Boils, Sores or Eruptions of any kind continually bursting through the skin.

IF YOU are suffering the aches and pains of Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Scrofulous and Ulcerated Sores, Glandular Swellings, Blood Poison, etc.

IF YOU have that constant itching and inflammation of Piles.

IF YOU are in the grip of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout, etc.

All these are sure signs of clogging blood impurity, calling for immediate treatment through the blood, so don't waste your time & money on useless lotions and costly treatments, which do not get below the surface of the skin. What you want and what you must have is a medicine that will get right to the root of your trouble, a medicine that will thoroughly free the blood of the poisonous matter which alone is the true cause of all your suffering. Clarke's Blood Mixture is just such a medicine. It is composed of ingredients which quickly attack, overcome, and expel from the blood all impurities (from whatever cause arising), and by rendering it clean and pure, can be relied on to effect a lasting cure.

The True Value of CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE is certified by a most remarkable collection of unselected testimonials from grateful patients of all classes—patients who have been cured after doctors and hospitals have given them up as incurable—patients who have been cured after trying many other treatments without success—patients who not only have been cured of the particular skin or blood complaint from which they were suffering, but also have found great improvement in their general health. (See pamphlet round bottle.)

THE AFRIKA

LATEST AND LARGEST MOTOR SHIP.

The following description of the motor vessel "Africa," owned by the East Asiatic Company of Copenhagen, appears in Engineering. Pictures of the vessel, which is the latest and largest of ocean-going motor ships, and of her machinery, are also published by the journal.

The motor ship "Africa," built by Messrs. Burmeister and Wain, of Copenhagen, Denmark, is designed for the trade between Europe and the Far East and other distant places, her oil fuel capacity being sufficient for a journey of one and a half times round the world.

The vessel is built to class 100 A1. British Lloyd's special survey, awarding deck with freeboard, and with certificate for carrying fuel oil in double bottom. The scantlings of the more important parts are in excess of Lloyd's requirements, and the outfit and machinery are in every way of the latest design.

The vessel has a length of 464 ft. 6 in. overall, or between perpendiculars, of 445 ft. Her moulded breadth is 60 ft., and depth moulded to lower deck 24 ft., to upper deck 33 ft. 3 in., and to awning deck 42 ft. Her gross tonnage is 8,597 registered tons, and net tonnage 5,468 tons. Her deadweight is 13,300 tons. The capacity of her hold is about 700,000 cubic feet of grain. The vessel has an oil fuel capacity of about 1,500 tons, and her engines develop 4,500 indicated horse-power.

The hull is divided by seven watertight bulkheads and three continuous decks, and in the refrigerated holds with a platform deck. The width of the cargo hatch is 18 ft., and the main hatch has a length of 37 ft. 4 in.

ELECTRICAL MACHINERY.

The machinery is electrical throughout, and consists of 20 dynamos of 5 tons, 3 tons, and 1½ tons lifting power, and the corresponding derricks of 5 tons, and 2 tons capacity. The foremast is equipped with a 30 ton and the main and mizen masts each with a 15 ton derrick. The electric windlass for the 2,433 in. cable was constructed by Messrs. Burmeister and Wain, as was also the hydro electric steering engine, which is perfectly balanced with plungers fore and aft of the rudderstock. The deck officers and passengers have their accommodation in the house on top of the mast, which is specially fitted out to meet the requirements of the tropics. The culinary arrangements are in accordance with the latest practice, refrigerated provision rooms, ice generator, etc., being provided.

The engine staff and the crew are berthed amidships and in the poop. For the crew the rooms are fitted out for two men each and five separate messrooms are fitted for the officers and men of different grades.

The equipment is complete with all up-to-date refinements for minimizing manual labour, saving time and adding to the safety of the ship—as, for instance, with electric sounding machine, Navigator log recorder, loud speaking telephones, Clay's order transmitter, powerful wireless installations, etc.

THE DIESEL ENGINES.

The machinery consists of one set of Burmeister and Wain's four cycle twin-screw standard marine Diesel engines of the enclosed, forced lubricated, crosshead type. Each engine has six cylinders, with a cylinder diameter of 740 mm. and 110 mm. stroke, both engines being able at normal load at sea to develop a total 4,500 horse power at 115 revolutions a minute. Each engine is fitted with a main compressor for injecting air, enclosed, forced lubricated, and of the three stage type. According to the firm's usual practice, all the other necessary pumps and the auxiliary machines are electrically driven, independent of the main engines. For the production of the necessary current for working the auxiliary machinery, as well as the steering gear, windlasses, and winches, the ship is fitted with three auxiliary Diesel engines, each of 100 horse-power, and, further, an engine of the same size is provided for the refrigerating machinery.

The trial trip was run on March 27, and went off very satisfactorily. All the engines were tested and were put through a series of manoeuvres. During the trials several runs were carried out over the measured mile at an average speed of 13½ knots. The engines form the "second" set built for this ship, as the first set was delivered to the United States Shipping Board in 1919. When the machinery of the "Africa" was half completed, the United States Shipping Board wished to acquire a set of such engines as soon as possible, in order to obtain experience with them, and the East Asiatic Company consented to the transfer being made.

CREMATED ALIVE.

MISTAKEN "DEATH STATE."

BILL IN THE DIET.

A Tokyo message dated July 24 states: At Thursday's session of the Lower House Dr. Teiji Matsushita, former professor at the Imperial University, Kyoto, introduced a unique bill providing for a revision of the system under which dead are now buried or cremated in Japan. Incidentally, Dr. Matsushita's bill, which is supported by 24 Diet members, has occasioned strenuous opposition and even indignation among the medical practitioners some of whom consider Dr. Matsushita's proposal in the nature of an insult to their profession. In introducing his bill Dr. Matsushita stated that according to the regulations now in force dead may be buried or cremated on a doctor's certificate 24 hours after their death. Dr. Matsushita, however, contends that 24 hours is too short a period of time in which to determine the death of people and proceeded to enumerate several instances in which men and women were buried or cremated alive or in a state of apparent death. A cremator at Kyoto whom Dr. Matsushita interviewed told him that during his life as cremator extending for 20 years there were at least half a dozen cases in which the subjects of cremation screamed on being fired though of course it was then too late to save them. From these and other instances Dr. Matsushita infers that there must be a considerable number of those who are buried or cremated alive or while in a state of apparent death.

For this reason, Dr. Matsushita proposes to revise the regulations so that dead should be kept at home or in the public mortuary at least for 72 hours and then burial or cremation to be made on a doctor's certificate. Many medical practitioners appear inclined to regard Dr. Matsushita's bill as a reflection on their profession as it is disposed to cast doubt on the validity of their death certificates as they are now issued, and denounce it as silly and unnecessary.

Apart from the merits or demerits of Dr. Matsushita's proposal it seems quite possible that many people may be buried or cremated while in a state of suspended animation. A most notable case of apparent death which is still fresh in the memory of many took place last year in the case of Field Marshal Count Terauchi who was pronounced dead by his medical attendants but some hours later it was discovered that he was only in a state of suspended animation. The consequence was that a report of death to the Imperial Household Department had to be withdrawn and the obituary in the newspapers had to be cancelled. Count Terauchi lived for a week after his obituary had been published.—Japan Advertiser.

"Gets-It" Peels My Corns Off!

Any Corn or Callus Comes Off Easily—Fully, Painlessly. Never Fails!

It is almost a miracle to get rid of a corn or callus the "Gets-It" way. It is a simple, safe, and sure method of getting rid of a corn or callus. It is a simple, safe, and sure method of getting rid of a corn or callus. It is a simple, safe, and sure method of getting rid of a corn or callus.

Use "Gets-It" peel off corn this way. Simply as putting on your hat. "Gets-It" does away forever with "conventional" sticky, troublesome, plaster, and ointments that rub off blood-letting knives, and excisors that are so painful. "Gets-It" cases pain. Your aching corn shrinks, and loosens from the foot. You peel the corn painlessly from your toe in one complete piece. There is no painful, common sense "Gets-It" cure. You would a banana skin. Nothing else but "Gets-It" can do it. "Gets-It" the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at all chemists and stores. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., 10, 11, & 12, South Street, Shanghai.
